Beedie family

Our Kimount Club Champions, the Beedie family, give because, as Cindy puts it, "It's the right thing to do." They believe that investing in Vancouver's community is both a responsibility and a privilege and having achieved much success with their family business, Beedie Development Group, Ryan and his family have turned their attention to giving back.

As extraordinary philanthropists, the Beedies see their giving as an opportunity to engage their employees, get them involved in the community, and to instill the values of generosity and philanthropy in others.

"We love giving back," Ryan says. "It feels so good to know that you're having an impact. The personal, human impact on someone else is so powerful, and it makes me want to work harder and continue to grow the business so we can do more things like that."

Thank You for supporting our amazing kids!
